SHAMELESS LIVES LEAD TO AWFUL DEATH.

The recent tragedy in New York City, by which a brute, posing as a gentleman, was ruthlessly slain by another equally brutal man, brings to light a mass of filth and moral degeneracy which is absolutely appalling to all decent people.

We regret to see all the daily papers filled with the disgusting details of the putrid lives of the two prominent figures and their female satellites. Far better to suppress all of it except the mere detail that one man, wild with jealousy, slew his enemy, than to spread broadcast to the world the sickening stuff that no decent man would have his daughters and sons to read.

The old axiom that vice, when first seen, is so repulsive that it is nauseating, but, by familiarity, comes at last to be embraced, is too often, alas, true of poor, frail humanity.

Brethren of the press, can there not be a higher ideal than simply to make sewers of our pages in order not to be "scooped" on news?

REMARKABLE IMPROVEMENT.

Mr. Clarence T. Jones, of Columbia, S. C. (but born and raised in this city), who came home to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the new State Capitol and other Home-Coming entertainments, will leave for his Southern home. Mr. Jones is very much impressed with the marked improvement in his native city, saying that he had no idea that the improvement was so widespread, substantial and beautiful. Especially was he impressed and pleased with the improvement in the residence portion of the South Side. He thinks the outlook is for still greater things.

He will return to his home in his big B—Motor Car by way of Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, etc.

Mr. Jones is one of a big firm of architects who have been very successful in drafting plans for many public buildings in the South.

When our county authorities are ready to undertake the work, he proposes to submit plans for the new courthouse in this city.

We wish him all success in his work.

WHAT'S IN McCLEURE.

The July McCleure's is a good, heavy and satisfying read, some good articles on new things the world is doing, some important ones on vital topics of the day, and a good share of risk and enteraining stories, the whole well illustrated with attractive illustrations, many in colors.

Ray Stannard Baker's "New Music for an Old World," describing Dr. Thaddeus C. Lewis' new instrument, producing music by electricity, the dynamophone, is full of suggestion and interest for both the musically informed and the uninitiated. We have had many superficial descriptions of the San Francisco earthquake, but Henry Anderson's record of the actual experience in "My Sixty Sleepless Hours," written on the spot, and at the time of the occurrence, touches the real heart of the matter. The story of the various methods that resulted in the recent insurance scandals are interestingly shown by Burton J. Hendrick in the "Great Fire of Life Insurance" in which he tells the career of Henry Baldwin Hyde, the founder of the Mutual Life, and the chief instigator of Carl Schurz's "Reckonings of a Long Life," contains some interesting impressions of Mazzini, the Italian patriot, and Kosciusko, the Polish patriot.

The book is full of study and imaginative stories of Old England continue with the life of Parneshus, the small legions, soldiers, etc., and gives complete history of the forces on the Great Wall and fought successfully "The Winged Hat" (the Danes). Non-motorists are well advised to go well with their first motorizing sensations brought back to them vividly and amusingly by Julian Street's "My Early Days in the Philippines." "Cayabigan" which is full of color and power. "The Generous Mr. Smith" by Dr. M. M. Hulbert is a good, amusing character story with a little moral in its tail and "The Still of Ballywan," by Stevie F. Wynne is full of fun. "At the Top of the Hill" by H. B. Going and "The Home Wind," are poems worth reading and remembering. Andre Castaigne's pictures for the Kipling book are excellent, and, above all, they are of information and the spirit and flesh and life of the time.

SUIT FILED TO TEST RESTRICTING LAW.

Attorneys W. H. Holt, W. C. Halbert, E. L. Worthington and George DuFelle filed suit on Monday, in the Butler Circuit Court, alleging the unconstitutionality of the recent redistricting act passed by the last Legislature.

The petition asks that the law be declared unconstitutional and void upon the ground that the law violates that provision of the Constitution requiring representation to be equal and uniform, and that the various representative and senatorial districts shall be composed of the most compact and contiguous territory, no more than two counties composing a representative district.

This suit was arranged for by the Republican members of the Legislature just prior to adjournment.

KENTUCKY FARES WELL IN PUBLIC BUILDING LAW.

In the new public building law, which has just passed Congress, Kentucky is very liberally dealt with. The following cities are allowed the following sums for public buildings:

Bowling Green	$100,000
Danville	50,000
Lebanon	30,000
London	65,000
Mayfield	40,000
Owensboro	175,000
Paris	40,000
Winchester	45,000
Catlettsburg	7,000

CHANGE OF TIME.

The time table on the L. & N. R. R. has been changed somewhat. The early train for Louisville leaves at 5:40 a. m., instead of at 5:45 a. m. The train which has been reaching here from Lexington at 4:10 p. m. will hereafter come here at 3:50, which is a very desirable change.

Deadly

Grasp of Grip Prostrated Me.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Built Up My

Shattered Nerves and Gave Me an Appetite.

Of the millions of people, who today suffer from nervous or heart weakness, a large percentage trace the cause directly to deadly La Grippe. It is a general and sudden attack upon the nerves, putting an extra strain upon them at the time their vitality is at the lowest ebb. If La Grippe has done this, bring back appetite, rest and restore the nerves to their normal activity.

"I want to write this testimony for the benefit of those who have suffered from the dreaded disease—La Grippe. I suffered several weeks with it in any way, shape or form (it sufficed to make me ill) and my daughter recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine to me and I can truly say that from the first day I was better and in a few days I was well again. I still have my shattered nerves and gave me a splendid appetite. I cannot speak too highly of it and want to say, each and every one who has suffered from La Grippe should get instant relief by getting a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. Insist on having it and take it. It is a simple remedy and will bring this wretched disease to a standstill. I remain—MRS. GEORGE B. HALL, Jackson, Tenn.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

While Mr. John L. Tobin was driving along Third street, on Monday morning, in a buggy the horse took fright at a wheelbarrow load of soiled clothing and ran away striking the wheel of the buggy against a hitching post in front of Judge T. J. Nunn's residence, throwing Mr. Tobin to the pavement, bruising and jarring him to such an extent as to cause temporary unconsciousness.

Mr. Z. T. Thomason and son, who were passing, ran to the assistance of Mr. Tobin and also to capture the horse, in which they were successful.

Later it was found that, while Mr. Tobin was badly bruised and shaken up, he was not seriously injured.

THE LARGEST YET.

The largest touring auto-car that we have yet seen was in the city on Tuesday afternoon. It had five seats, capable of holding 15 people, and was a tremendous affair. We could not learn to whom it belonged or where it was bound. It was only in the city a short while, leaving on the Verailles pike.

EFFICIENT OFFICER AND CLEVER GENTLEMAN.

We had occasion, recently, to pass over the railroad from Versailles to Georgetown, and wish to bear testimony to the efficiency and ability of Capt. J. R. Bryan, conductor on that road. He is every inch a gentleman and very popular with the patrons of the road. He is especially solicitous for the comfort of lady and children passengers, and no one could be more polite to all those who travel that way than Capt. Bryan.

We desire to return thanks for courtesies extended to us individually.

ANOTHER SHOOTING IN CRAW.

Early Morning Shooting in Semones' Saloon.

About 3 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, a difficulty occurred in the saloon of Mr. Robert Semones, in the classic precincts of "Craw."

It seems that George ("Minky Dink") Thomson (son of the late Mr. W. W. Thomson), who was employed by Semones as a cook in the restaurant in the rear of the saloon, came in about the time given above and had some words with Semones, and then stated that he would quit. Semones told him that he would have to pay a debt he owed the concern before quitting or would have to work it out.

Again some hot words passed between the young men. It is said Thomson started towards Semones, when the latter slapped him. Thomson pulled a gun and fired twice at Semones, the first shot grazing the side of his head, the second took effect in the side above the hip bone, and ranging down. Semones fell to the floor.

Dr. C. A. Fish was summoned and had him taken to the King's Daughters Hospital, where Dr. Fish, assisted by Drs. N. M. Garrett and J. S. Goodrich operated upon him, but could not locate the ball. It was found, however, that the intestines were not perforated and he has a good chance to recover.

Thomson was arrested by Officers Johnson and Samples and lodged in jail to await the result of Semones' wound.

Score one more shooting for "Craw," and another argument for not licensing saloons in that delectable quarter.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met on Monday night last and transacted considerable business of minor importance.

A large number of building permits were authorized, which shows that the demand for dwelling houses is increasing rather than subsiding.

The Police Committee were authorized to purchase a patrol wagon not to cost over $150.

Repairs were ordered made to the St. Clair street bridge.

The option which the city holds upon the purchase of the waterworks is about to expire, and Mayor Hume called the attention of the Council to that fact. A committee was appointed to look into the matter and report.

Mr. Harry McEwing was elected a fireman to succeed Mr. Chick Kennedy, resigned.

A MELANGE.

As I take a whack at all creation, it is only meet and seemly that I take a "whack" at the man of Utah. If I was a man I could challenge him to "pistols and coffee for two, but, as I am only a woman, I guess it will have to be lingual warfare. But first, imprimatur—let it be printed and know all men by these presents—that I, the "Witch" of Last Night's Thoughts, do hereby set forth my utter abhorrence and detestation of that species of spiritual perversion—that impaling on the reptile of a merciless wits—of the man of Utah. The man of the snarling quill (for truly he charges a subject with snarling quill!) is the exponent. It bespeaks inherent cruelty, something I would not have entered into my make-up, for all the wealth of the Indias. Why that man would vivisect frogs and dogs in the interests of science! Ugh! I call the readers of the Roundabout to witness that this war of words has not been of my seeking, but when a specimen of the genus, homo-ordi-primate, puts on large glasses and goes out prospecting for trouble, don't you think it's in accordance with the eternal fitness of things that he locate a placard of that poor, yellow trouble? A sort of Howland for his Owyhee. By the way, while I think of it, who is D. Meade Woodson? (Don't all speak at once!) And how it is I've never heard of him before, and his name is not enrolled side by side with the other great men of earth, in the "Hall of Fame"! I would love to know, for curiosity killed a cat once. I believe I could sum him up in a word of five letters, and when phonetic spelling obtains it won't take but three. The first I ever knew of him was bearing down on me, like a rush of winds, from their orbits, brandishing the awful weapon of the verb, "to criticize," in one hand, and in the other such unanswerable queries as "Why God should have made Eve?" As God, sir, and then not take Mr. Lion's rib to make Mrs. Lion, and Mr. Tiger's rib to make Mrs. Tiger?" Has he bats in his belfry, or why, in the name of all that is logical and the "Great Horn Spoon," does he ask me such a question as that? Did I ever for one moment profess to be a connoisseur at the workings of the "Great—?" Oh contrarie did I not say, in a King's English, "A God comprehendend would be no God at all." And if I know one thing, must I know every thing? When, as a master of fact, I will acknowledge, one hour in the day, that I only know that I know nothing. If I could tell him off hand, I fail to see how it would very materially add to the total of human knowledge. There are many, many things I would much rather know than that. Well, we will have to wait until "we die and go—I know not where—above the smoke and stir of this dim spot, which men call earth." Heigh ho! Alas, and slack! That man will be requiring of me the whereabouts of Robinson Crusoe's man Friday next, or a toon of the Sacred Elephant, the one round button on the great Pangandrum. I can tell him this man about Mr. Lion, though when I was a youth, I often chanted on my coat of arms, he is, now, rampant—regardant. I don't know much of whaling or sailing, never having been on a whaling ship to the Atlantic, nor as Super-cargo to the tropics, but, it seems to me that if I had attacked the man of Utah with a harpoon he wouldn't have been any more the belligerent gentleman. I wonder why, dear heart alive, what a disciple of the doctrine of "Universal Brotherhood" he makes Mr. Gaines and I look like thirty cents, and feel like unto Cromwell and found it to be over and above that which was possessed, we sank into nothingness, with everlasting sense that once it was." It would seem that we will have to hide our diminished heads, or become an "also ran," but as a matter of fact, I haven't an idea of doing anything of the kind. Why, he is a modern Shylock, with his pound of flesh. He doesn't want Mr. Gaines to appropriate any of the crusading stunts, because he wants to relegate all that business to himself. He is nothing if not an 18k. diamond crusader. It seems to me that if there was no crusade, there had as well be no D. Meade Woodson. History gives no account of him ever having been pleased with but two things, himself and Utah. Long may he reign! I mean, I think that for him, the Great Epoch—the epoch I am writing all the time of nature. He rings the changes on "the being whose center is everywhere, and whose circumference is nowhere." Well, why not? There is no harm in it, and it sounds real well. But I fear me much that his is a creed whose "center is everywhere, and whose circumference is nowhere." He seems to stand hand on sword, at attention "to read, to write," and "to criticize," a sort of right angle triangle of a man. Let's see—the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the square of the sum of the other two sides. The hypotenuse is the longest side of a right angle triangle; then, in this case, it goes without saying, "to criticize" is the longest side of the triangle, since that is the longest side of this man, "to read and write," and the other two sides. Now, don't you think the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the square of the sum of the other two sides? That is to say, don't you think there is easily as much "criticism" as there is of both "read and write" entering into the nature and make-up of the man? I do. Apropos of the fact that he has the Nicholas head for figures, I will see built a problem for his solution. It is as old as the hills, but has never been correctly solved. It takes 9 yards of moonshine to make a mooley cow an evening dress, as far is it to the moon? Of course, you know that usually it is 264,000 miles, but then, in telling how much this mooley cow, and evening dress, the world is going to increase or diminish it. It is bound to cut some ice in the solution of the problem. Now, this is an argument of three propositions—the mooley cow, the evening dress, and the moon. A kind of physical-astronomical syllogism. If he can only get his major and minor premises correct, my word for it, his syllogism is sure to be. I would suggest that he go out and corral a herd of logarithms, to abridge calculations, but for the fact that you can't quite apply the usual remedy—sidereal astronomy in this case, because of the physical element entering so largely into the problem, not to mention the fact that the moon is a Calculus—whether Barycentric, imaginary, integral, exponential or differential. It is an awful tangle. But, stay, I believe I have it. As the man who is going to solve the problem is a physical animal, and the mooley cow is a physical animal, and the evening dress is a confection for a physical animal, why not try physical astronomy? Well, if all else fails, I suggest heliography as a method of solution. Nonsense. Certainly it is, "but a little jolly now and then is relished by the wisest men." The erudite gentleman of Utah says that my article of March 24th "is clearly a theme of the composite order." Well, what's the matter with having an article of the composite order, any way? Is there anything that is not made up of parts? I wish would pass me over a few. A few integers, that are not capable by some spell of disintegration, of being reduced into their segment parts. All that is not atomic in its constitution is not matter, and all that is not matter is not at all. Even the luminiferous ether, the nearest approach to spirit we have, is atomic in its constitution. It would not be an entity, else, and would have to be classed as spirit or inability. Absolute coalescence is absolute density. Where there are no inter-spaces, there can be no yielding. An ether absolutely dense, would put an infinitely more effectual stop to sidereal revolution than would an ether of adamantine iron. When we arrive at unqualified matter, we have to believe that God exists, and spirit does not, that God is not spirit. We can not conceive of that which is not. I believe that God is matter—but not matter as we understand it; and that there are gradations of matter of which we know nothing; the grosser impelling the finer, the finer predominating the grosser. Just as the electric principle permeates the atmosphere, and the atmosphere impels it. Why in the name of all that is peaceful, could not the man of Utah pursue his own slap ash, hit or miss style, and allow me to pursue the even or uneven, as the case may be, of my own composite way? Must he rise, Phoenix-like, out of the ashes of my reputation as an author? Ye gods! What a disciple of the doctrine of "Universal Brotherhood" that laying down of all things scith! God help me! I mean, woman, who is human enough to urge you on to greater endeavor. I wouldn't have cared four pence sterling for his criticism if he had only practiced a little of what he preaches a good deal. If he wants to ask any question concerning anything I assumed or asserted in my article of March 24th, and will use just a soupcon of that Universal Brotherhood doctrine, I will answer him according to my very best lights as far as in and around myself. But, failing this (and I think, as well might the astronomer hold his sextant in the midnight sky expecting to obtain an observation of the sun), I am now no question of his asking. Not I, not on your life. I will just remain, in silence, that what he was intended to be printed in paragraphs, and I have the MS. so arranged—but, that is all right. The Roundabout is the best paper in the world, and Mr. Lewis one of the finest man I have ever met. In avoiding Scylla, the gentleman of Utah has run aground on Charybdis; as to whether he took the volvoglababor or the bacterium for the tiny mustard seed, depenant yet not. It seems to me, if he had a speaking acquaintance with the triple combination—biology, zoology and botany—he ought to know I said nothing of the "tiny mustard seed." He says "Provident is not arraigned." (Verily I believe he is ink-well, he is the original in width, truth lies buried.) I don't believe there is a man, in the man of Utah, woman, child, horse, or dog, who reads that article, that would, for a moment, accredit me with a thought of really arraigning Providence. He says that touching the theory that portions of the Divine Being are incarnate or incorporated in this grosser matter, we are a unit. Well, I'm sure I'm thankful for small mercies. I also believe that because of sin, suffering had to come into this world, and to suffer we have to have organs; and further believe that we will always have organs, i. e., we will never be bodiless. GEORGE W. BARNES, P. M.

Dr. Weaver's Treatment.

Supp for the blood; Cures for skin eruptions.

RETURNS AFTER FIVE YEARS WANDERING.

Young Charles Fugazzi, son of Mr. Chas. Fugazzi, the owner of a fruit store and restaurant in this city, returned home, on Sunday last, after having been away five years.

He left here when only 13 years of age and now returns a sturdy young man of 18 years.

He had always been rather of a roving disposition and had disappeared for a week or so at a time once or twice before.

The family thought, at the time of his disappearance, that he had gone with a circus troupe, which appeared here the day he left, going towards Louisville. They used every endeavor to find him, advertising and offering rewards for information as to his whereabouts.

But Charlie had gone in the opposite direction, and made his first stop in West Virginia, having hired to a man in Lexington to assist in shipping a lot of mules. He first worked in a coal mine; then on a farm near Fairmount, W. Va., for a year; afterwards for three years and over on a farm at Grover's Gap, near Littleton.

He says he had a good place, enjoyed the work and was very kindly treated by his employer. While there he attended the county schools.

About a month ago he determined to come home and wrote to Assistant Postmaster J. R. Todd to find out if his father and family were still here. He was informed that they were and started for home.

He says he has never had to beg for money or food, but was able to work for all he had and has enjoyed himself. He says he will stay here with his father for a time, but later expects to go to California to reside.

The family were delighted at his return a sturdy and strong young man—with very little resemblance to the delicate looking boy that "skidded."

CLIMATIC CURES.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdone. The poor patient and the rich patient too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free experiments have shown that it is more certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and drain on the constitution, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer climate, you will find that the few who are sufficiently strong to do so, and regain strength are those that use German Syrup. Trial bottle 25c; regular size, 75c. At all drug-gists.

HORSE BADLY HURT.

Mr. Ed. Power has a blind horse which was standing under an apple tree in the yard (at his home, on East Main street). An apple fell on his head, frightening him, when he dashed away falling over a pile of brick and crashed into the end of the greenhouse nearest the house, cutting and mangling his breast and legs, and breaking a blood vessel in his left hip, which rapidly filled up under the skin until it was as large as a man's two fists.

THE WISDOM OF ANIMALS.

You can not induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach, once over-worked, must have the same as your own rest.

You don't have to starve to regain stomach. Kodol for dyspepsia takes up the work for your stomach. Digest well and quickly, and you will be in condition again. You can't feel good with a disturbed stomach. Try Kodol.

GROUND BROKEN FOR THE FRANKFORT-VERSAILLES TRACTION LINE.

The Woodford Sun says:

"The work of grading the roadbed for the Frankfort-Versailles electric line was begun Monday at a point three-fourths of a mile from town on the Frankfort turnpike. A force of fifteen or twenty teams for a mile-running race; bicycle and automobile races and you have an afternoon of genuine Kentucky sport are at work.

"Private right-of-way has been secured the entire distance and the company has already made payment to a number of the property owners."

LEXINGTON FOURTH OF JULY.

The Bullet is now in Lexington. It is getting ready for its flight in the air.

What is the Bullet, do you ask. Why it is the big airship, the biggest of its kind in the world, and it will make a flight over the fields and meadows of the Blue Grass on the Fourth of July.

At the height of 2,000 feet it will encircle the grounds, but the point of interest is to watch it at anchor struggling to get free, to see the liberation, to watch it rise, sailing round and round until it reaches the desired height and then sail away under perfect control of the operator, making a trip to a neighboring town and return to settle once more at the point of starting.

Prof. Leslie B. Haddock, the designer, builder and owner of the airship, arrived in Lexington Wednesday with his "Monarch of the Clouds" on a special, and brought a corps of assistants with him.

Arrangements have also been made with the famous DeAcos family, who are renowned as the champion rifle shots of the world.

Three will be three heat trotting and three heat pacing races, in which some of the most noted steppers of Kentucky will take part. Add to these a mile-running race; bicycle and automobile races and you have an afternoon of genuine Kentucky sport and amusement.

Two big bands will furnish music.

The entire affair will be opened with a monster parade with floats, bands and banners, a royal pageant of splendor and instruction.

Special excursion rates will be given on all railroads and traction lines. For particulars see small bills, or write to Louis H. Ramsey, Secretary, Lexington, Ky.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

The coming 4th of July, which falls on Wednesday next, will be duly celebrated in this city.

The Business Men's Club has arranged the following program: Band concert at old Capitol 10:30 a. m.

Master of Ceremonies—Hon. L. F. Johnson.

Address—By Hon. South Trimble.

Music by Second Regiment Band.

Oratorical Contest—Subject—"The Day We Celebrate," by young men over 18 years of age; time limit 15 minutes; not less than three entries, for $10 in gold, first prize; $5 in gold second prize.

Music.

In the afternoon and evening the members of the Y. M. I. will give a delightful picnic at Glenwood Park, when all kinds of amusements will be engaged in and many handsome prizes awarded.

A HUSTLER.

Capt. J. D. Sallee, the Superintendent and Manager of the Traction Co., is hustling things along in this city. In addition to giving a first class street car service, he is putting the road in shape for the big interurban cars, without interfering with traffic; he is hard at work lowering the grade on Arlington Heights, replacing the light rails and ties with heavy material, so that when the force of men now at work on the Ver-sailes end reach this city the connection can be easily made.

He is the "right man in the right place"—sure.

STAMPING GROUND.

Several persons went from here to Cincinnati on the excursion train Sunday last.

We had lots of rain until Monday of this week, when a change for the better set in.

All the tobacco plants are now on the hill, and the prospects for the crop are good, although the acreage is smaller than last year on account of a scarcity of plants.

About all the wheat has been cut, and while the straw is short the berries are fine and the heads well filled. With favorable weather for threshing, the yield will be above the average.

LAME EVERY MORNING.

A Bad Back is Always Worse in the Morning. Frankfort People Are Finding Relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. What aches you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Don't Know Pillar cure a bad back, but it will help it.

Permanent cures in Frankfort prove the merit of Don't Know Pillar.

Mrs. Margie Weitzel, of 318 Main street, wife of Lucas Weitzel, baker by trade, now retired, says: "For a number of years I have suffered from a constant aching across the kidneys. At times my back was so bad that I could hardly sit still, get up or down, or lie down. Night it ached so much that I could not rest comfortably and when I first chose to go to bed I could not sleep. I tried all kinds of remedies, but nothing helped. The kidney sensations were irregular, highish colored and distressing, and on standing deposited a heavy sediment. I saw Dr. King's Pillar and was greatly pleased to be at J. W. Gayle's drug store and began to use them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had almost entirely disappeared. The aches and pains left me and I felt as ever after completing the treatment. Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word in favor of Dr. King's Pillar."

WORK BEGINS.

On Traction Line Between Frankfort and Versailles.

W. J. Hayden, a contractor of this city, began work at Versailles Monday working on the traction line between Frankfort and Versailles. Mr. Hayden has been busy for the last week employing laborers and collecting wagons, carts, etc., with which to carry on the work of construction.

George MacLeod, of Versailles, an engineer for the Lexington and interurban railways, will superintend the making of the road. The right of way was laid off about two weeks ago and fenced in immediately. The work of construction will be pushed rapidly to completion, and it is likely that by spring there will be an interurban line running from Lexington to Frankfort. — Lexington Leader, June 25.
